
What the candidate can do for me???

Posted by cj4iu - 2008/02/15 22:53

I believe that JFK and each of our founding fathers would be disgusted by what I keep hearing from "people on the streets" interviewed on all networks. They all want to know what a specific candidate is going to promise to do for them. Wake up !!! The answer is NOTHING. Nor should they. That is not what the office of the President of the United States was intended for. There has not been one single job created by a president. There has not been one loan approved or denied by a president. Not a single lecture given, homework assigned or test administered/graded by a president. Take care of national security, the infrastructure, and placement of qualified personnel in their respective positions and then get out of the way and let our freedoms flourish. This is especially important in the economy. We are actually supposed to have a "free market society", so I say to our Government, "Stay out of it!!!! Thank you and Bless God!

=====